

COVID Traveling Recommendations

As a result of an April 18, 2022, federal court decision, the CDC will no longer enforce its order requiring masks on planes, buses, trains, and other forms of public transportation traveling into, within, or out of the United States and in U.S. transportation hubs such as airports and stations. The Department of Justice plans to appeal the court's decision. For more information, visit CDC: Requirement for Face Masks on Public Transportation Conveyances and at Transportations Hubs. Though not mandated by law, the CDC recommends people wear a mask in indoor areas of public transportation (such as airplanes, trains, buses, ferries) and transportation hubs (such as airports, stations, and seaports). Visit CDC: Wearing Masks in Travel and Public Transportation Settings for more information.

Visit CDC: Travel website for recommendations and requirements before, during, and after travel (e.g., testing, delaying travel if you have symptoms or were exposed to someone with COVID-19, etc.).

International travel may pose additional risk. For travel recommendations and requirements for international destinations, visit websites CDC: COVID-19 Travel Recommendations by Destination and U.S. Department of State: COVID-19 Travel Information. If you are a non-U.S. resident looking to travel to Minnesota, contact your country's embassy in the United States for additional guidance.
